DEAR FRIENDS,

Thank you for being a part of this 80th anniversary season of Pittsburgh Opera. Your generosity is what makes world-class opera possible in Pittsburgh and is what has sustained Pittsburgh Opera for 80 years.

Because of your support we are able to bring you classic productions like Madama Butterfly, Hansel & Gretel, and La bohème. You make it possible for us to put on imaginative, second-stage productions like afterWARds at the CAPA theater and our critically-acclaimed production of Glory Denied at the Opera headquarters. Our Resident Artists continue to achieve praise for their talent, and thousands of students are introduced to music and the power of the human voice in our educational programming—all because you choose to support Pittsburgh Opera with your financial gifts.

Although we conclude the 80th season, the challenge continues for us to build upon our present success to ensure that Pittsburgh Opera continues to thrive for the next 80 years. You are the key to that success. If you have not done so already, please consider increasing your annual fund support and taking part in building the future of Pittsburgh Opera. If you are not yet a member of Pittsburgh Opera, please become a new contributor and join with us in supporting this vibrant art. Also, our development staff is available to help you determine your impact on the next 80 years through an estate or planned gift to Pittsburgh Opera.

In addition to making your annual fund gift, you will not want to miss Maecenas XXXV, which will take place right here on the Benedum Center stage on May 18th. Your sponsorship and ticket purchases help make this signature fundraiser for the Opera a success and provide needed support for all that the company does.

On behalf of our board, volunteers, artists, staff, and technicians, we thank you for your commitment of support, as together we embark on the next 80 years of Pittsburgh Opera.

In the meantime, please enjoy Don Pasquale.
DEAR FRIENDS,

Welcome back to the Benedum Center for the final opera of our 2018-19 season, Don Pasquale.

Once again we are closing the season with a comic opera written by the masterful composer Donizetti in the 1800s. And once again, we chose to set our production in the 1950s. Last year The Elixir of Love was set in a sleepy Italian seaside village; this year, Don Pasquale is set in Hollywood.

Comic operas lend themselves to productions that are not literal about their original time periods, perhaps because great comedy is both universal and timeless. These creative new productions often help us better understand works created hundreds of years ago.

We know you will love our cast. Singing the role of Don Pasquale is none other than Pittsburgh’s own Kevin Glavin, the ‘funniest man in opera.’ Lisette Oropesa, who has recently enjoyed enormous success in Europe, returns as Norina. We welcome her back after her enormous successes here in The Abduction from the Seraglio and The Daughter of the Regiment. The Chicago Tribune called Javier Abreu, our Ernesto, “a bright, honeyed lyric tenor” with “a rubbery flair for physical comedy.” We welcome him back too as a former Resident Artist who has developed a very successful career since leaving us. Debuting with us as the cunning Malatesta is Joshua Hopkins, who The New Criterion rightly says has “a voice with gold in it.” And fresh off his outstanding performance as Colline in last month’s La bohème, our Resident Artist Tyler Zimmerman completes the cast as the Notary.

While you are here today, please make sure to renew your subscription for our 2019-20 season. It will combine classics Don Giovanni, Carmen, and Norma with our first-ever Spanish language opera, Florencia en el Amazonas. Plus we’re including a Baroque masterpiece, Handel’s Alcina, and a satirical contemporary American work called The Last American Hammer. I encourage you to stop by the lobby table to renew today. If you’re not a subscriber, now is the perfect time to sign up!

Warmest Regards,

SYNOPSIS

DON PASQUALE

Hollywood, CA: the 1950s

ACT I, SCENE 1: A room in Don Pasquale’s mansion

Don Pasquale is an old film star from the Silent Movie era as famous as the great Nora Desmond. He lives in an old mansion on Sunset Boulevard that is as devoid of color as his old black-and-white films. His ward and nephew, Ernesto, has refused an arranged marriage, proclaiming his love for Norina, a popular Hollywood starlet. Don Pasquale, outraged, decides to disinherit the boy and beget his own heirs. To do this he needs a wife, and he has called on a family friend, Dr. Malatesta, to help him find one. Malatesta, siding with Ernesto and Norina, makes a plan to teach the headstrong Pasquale a lesson. Malatesta glowingly describes his beautiful and completely imaginary sister and tells Pasquale that the girl is in love with him. Before long, the old bachelor is convinced he loves the girl and expresses his desire to marry her with Technicolor enthusiasm. Furthermore, he is prepared to cut Ernesto out of his will. Unaware that Dr. Malatesta has a plot afoot, Ernesto grows bitter at the apparent betrayal by his good friend, Malatesta.

ACT I, SCENE 2: A Hollywood Soundstage

Shooting a scene from her next Hollywood movie, Norina’s screen persona boasts about knowing all the tricks to win a man’s love. Malatesta arrives and reveals to Norina his plans for fooling Don Pasquale: Norina is to enact the role of Malatesta’s sister, wed the old bachelor in a fake ceremony and then drive him so crazy with her whims and demands that he will be eager to find a way out of the unpleasant staged marriage. Malatesta hires local stage hands to help out, but there is no time to tell Ernesto.

ACT II: Don Pasquale’s mansion

Realizing that he will never be able to marry Norina without his inheritance, Ernesto laments his situation as passionately as any of his uncle’s Silent Films. When he leaves, Malatesta arrives with Don Pasquale’s “bride” and introduces her to Pasquale, who is outlandishly dressed in an old costume worthy of Rudolph Valentino. Without further delay, a ceremony takes place, during which Ernesto returns and is forced to witness the contract, and he is finally told what is afoot. As soon as the mock ceremony ends, Norina turns into a fiery shrew who torments Don Pasquale with her nasty short temper and extravagant ways.

ACT III, SCENE 1: Don Pasquale’s mansion

Having turned Don Pasquale’s mansion into a kind of Hearst Castle, Norina invites the elite of the Hollywood film world to cavort at Don Pasquale’s expense. Exquisitely gowned, Norina brazenly leaves the house to attend a late-night concert, and as part of the plan, she drops a letter where Don Pasquale must find it. It is a love letter from Ernesto, inviting her to a rendezvous in the garden of the Hollywood Bowl. Don Pasquale realizes that he cannot endure the situation any longer. Furious, he calls Malatesta, who promises to fix everything.

ACT III, SCENE 2: The garden of the Hollywood Bowl

Disguised as a Hollywood crooner, Ernesto sings a love song to Norina, who responds fervently for Don Pasquale’s eaves-dropping ears. Don Pasquale springs upon the conspirators, who then happily reveal their plot. Immensely relieved to discover that his marriage has been like scenes from a popular Hollywood sex comedy, Don Pasquale forgives everyone involved and happily gives Norina to Ernesto.

DIRECTOR’S NOTES

DON PASQUALE
By Chuck Hudson

With Don Pasquale, Donizetti gives us champagne for music and so the comic style of the acting must match this excellence or it would be like mixing bubbles with beer! I had the privilege of working with a master of comedy, Marcel Marceau. At his school in Paris, Marceau had us study the various styles of comedy from the Italian Commedia dell’Arte to his own comic inspirations: Charlie Chaplin, Buster Keaton, Harold Lloyd, and other actors of le Cinéma Muet. It was their virtuosity, their “musicality” in style that struck Marceau. Their comic dignity represented the champagne of Comedy as opposed to the stylistic beer of Slapstick or Vaudeville. Marceau also drilled us in the details of his own comic masterpieces, working the specificity, style, and that elusive skill, Comic Timing. Highlights of touring with Marceau came on the off-nights in a studio improvising together. He put me on stage and tossed out a theme and I would “play.” He gave me specific stylistic directions: “make the same action tragic, now comic, now dark comedy, now Baroque comedy, now Melodrama....” To increase the subtlety he would say, “Now find the tragic in the comic” or “find the comic in the tragic.” I learned that I could change the context or even the meaning simply by changing where and when to “take” to the audience. These silent asides would make or break the comedy and could generate cascades of laughter. I love honoring his influence by inserting flowers from his bouquet into a show now and then, so we have inserted a few into this production—riffing on Bip Commits Suicide, The Mask Maker, and The Pickpocket’s Nightmare.

We wanted to create an environment that would allow the virtuosity of comedy to work hand in hand with the virtuoso vocal work of Opera. When the design team and I settled on Sunset Boulevard as the inspiration for this production, the collaboration and creativity flowed. Having singers play Hollywood actors who are playing roles opened up a world of comic possibilities. I have always been amazed with the “theatre magic” of the costume changes during a Japanese Kabuki performance—a Samurai Warrior turns into a Fox right before your eyes, which is not only part of the fun, it is a playful way for us to portray in a theatre the special effects we expect in a movie. Like a Busby Berkeley chorus becoming a kaleidoscope of human action, even our set transforms one large element into a completely different object in another scene.
On the first day of rehearsal I presented the singers with Marceau’s Comic Timing Exercise—a specific and yet simple sequence of movements that allows comedy to flourish. Armed with this technique, we got to work! Although he is no longer with us, Marceau’s style and his love of style live on in those of us who worked with him directly. I am privileged to pass it along to the next generation of performers including actors, movement artists, and opera singers.

“We wanted to create an environment that would allow the virtuosity of comedy to work hand in hand with the virtuoso vocal work of Opera.”

Pittsburgh Opera owes its longevity and success over the past 80 years to thousands of friends in the region who have demonstrated their passion by loyally subscribing, encouraging friends and family to attend performances, volunteering time and talent, and generously contributing to the Annual Fund each year. We appreciate the continued kindness and generosity of individuals who recognize the beauty that Pittsburgh Opera brings to their lives—and make it a priority to provide financial support.

Pittsburgh Opera is especially grateful to those who have deepened their commitment by making a legacy gift and joining the Monteverdi Society. These unique and meaningful gifts have a tremendous impact on the well-being of the company, both financially and artistically.

For more information on the Monteverdi Society and planned giving options, please contact Michael E. Braxton at mbraxton@pittsburghopera.org or 412-281-0912, ext. 259.

Sound waves inspired by the aria "Quando me'n vo" from the opera La bohème.

“Once you hear the Opera it’s forever in your soul.”

EVERYONE should experience this.

LATECOMERS
To ensure the quality of our productions, latecomers will be taken to the best possible seat until intermission. Refunds or exchanges are NOT issued to latecomers.

OBSTRUCTED VISION
Supertitles, the English texts projected above the stage, will be fully visible to most Benedum patrons. However, supertitles will not be visible to anyone seated in or behind row W on the Main Floor. By necessary placement of the screen, the architecture of the Benedum precludes visibility in these areas.

CHECK ROOMS
Attended check rooms located on the Gallery and Promenade levels are open during the winter months. Coin-operated lockers are located on the Promenade and Mezzanine levels.

EMERGENCY INFORMATION
This theater is equipped with an Automated External Defibrillator.

ELEVATOR
Located off the Grand Lobby, serving various levels of the Benedum.

FIRE EXITS
Located at all levels and clearly marked. Use ONLY in case of emergency.

LOST AND FOUND
Call Benedum Center Lost and Found at 412-456-2604 weekdays.

REFRESHMENTS
Bars are located on the Gallery, Grand Lobby, and Promenade levels. Drinks may be purchased prior to performances and during intermissions. Beverages are permitted in Trust cups.

STAGE AREA
Limited to performers, staff, and authorized visitors.

RESTROOMS
Lounges for ladies and gentlemen are located on the Gallery, Promenade, and Mezzanine levels. Restrooms for patrons with physical disabilities are located on the Grand Lobby level.

TICKET SERVICES AND BOX OFFICE HOURS
Tickets to all performances may be purchased at the Box Office on the Grand Lobby level, as well as the Byham Theater box offices. Tickets to all performances may be purchased prior to performance days, two hours before curtain time, through intermission.

INFORMATION AND TICKET CHARGE NUMBER
MasterCard, Visa, Discover, and American Express are accepted. Ticket Charge operates Monday - Friday, 9:00 AM-6:00 PM, and Saturday and Sunday, 12:00-4:00 PM. Orders received fewer than 5 days in advance will be held for pickup at the Box Office. Additional phone services fees will apply. Call 412-456-6666 for tickets or Benedum Center show information. All sales are final.

AUDIO COMMENTARY
Pittsburgh Opera offers an Audio Commentary service for patrons with visual impairments during Tuesday performances at the Benedum Center. Through Channel 2 on the Assistive Listening Devices, patrons can hear the supertitles read simultaneously with their appearances on the screen, as well as descriptions of the set, characters, and costumes. Pittsburgh Opera also offers Braille and large-print programs. Inquire at the Education table and Guest Services Center.
